

WAHA NEWS

WELCOME TO WAHA E-NEWS

E-News is the electronic newsletter published by the Working at Height Association from time to time to keep members up to date with industry related issues and events. Members will receive an electronic copy automatically and other interested parties may register to be included on circulation.

To register – click here

Height Safety Industry to Become Co-Ordinated

We are excited to announce the expansion of the Fall Prevention Manufacturers Association to include other industry segments- including end users - involved in managing safe working at height. With a mission to become the peak industry body on height, WAHA has grown to represent the interests of manufacturers, installers, distributors, training companies, as well as end users, which is an expansion of the FPMA's previous scope. more

Industry Association to Drive New Australian Standard

WAHA constantly strives to develop and set high standards of safety and currently has a proposal with Standards Australia to fund the development of a new Australian Standard on single point anchors. more

Hello WAHA E-News!

The Working at Height Association (WAHA) is launching an E-Newsletter to better communicate with members and with the Height Safety market in general. The Association intends to keep the market apprised of its activities to improve the safety of those required to work at height. more